

The National Gallery Company championed in 2015 Buyers Power List

The National Gallery Company won in the Best Heritage Site, Museum or Gallery category, championed by the awards for its jewellery collection inspired by National Gallery paintings and exhibitions.

The National Gallery Company has been named winner in the Buyers Power List 2015 for its contribution to the jewellery industry.

Announced at the Jewellery and Watch Birmingham event at this year's Spring Fair, the Buyers Power List awards are designed to recognise influential buying teams and individuals across the show's many sectors.

The National Gallery Company won in the Best Heritage Site, Museum or Gallery category, championed by the awards for its jewellery collection inspired by National Gallery paintings and exhibitions.

The range includes luxury earrings, necklaces, bracelets, cufflinks and rings inspired by masterpieces such as Van Gogh's Sunflowers, Leonardo da Vinci's The Virgin of the Rocks and Monet's The Water Lily Pond.

The Buyers Power List competition reached out across the entire jewellery and watch industry and asked it to nominate and vote for retailers and buyers they felt had made an overwhelming contribution to the jewellery industry.

"We are very proud of the quality and range of our jewellery offering and thrilled to see it recognised at the UK's premier jewellery trade event," said Judith Mather, buying and merchandise director at The National Gallery Company.
