Homeware and Gifts from Hinchcliffe & Barber

The popular My Gifts Trade Hinchcliffe & Barber Grey Songbird range of homeware and gifts has been crowned overall winner at the UK's Gift Association's Gift of the Year awards.

Based on the designs that made textile and ceramics legends John Hinchcliffe and Wendy Barber internationally famous, the elegant and sophisticated Grey Songbird range, which includes ceramics, household and kitchen items, garden accessories and gift stationery, is designed to capture the serenity of an English country garden and the many birds that feed there. The GA, the trade representative body serving the UK gift and home industry, certainly seemed impressed, giving the range its overall Judges' Choice Award from a selection that encompassed more than 20 categories and a record number of entries.

This was not the only appearance by a My Gifts Trade Hinchcliffe & Barber range in the GA awards listings. The Hinchcliffe & Barber True Blue ceramic range was also a finalist in the Made in the UK category.

The Grey Songbird range was launched at the major retailer buying event, Home & Gift, Harrogate, in mid July 2014 and is available at independent gift stores, department stores and online retailers.

My Gifts Trade, owned by Music Exchange Ltd, a manufacturer, supplier and online retailer of printed music, gifts and accessories since 1997, produces a wide selection of specialist gifts and presents.
